GGOF Portfolio Brief — Tuesday, November 10, 2026

Covers Mon Nov 9 through the Tue Nov 10 Asia close. Source caveat: live search returned mostly snippets and little dated Nov 9–10 for single names; many publisher domains were blocked from page fetch. "QUIET" means nothing was found in the window, not that nothing happened. Items marked (unverified) rest on one snippet or an aggregator. Not usefully covered: HYG/IEF daily moves, UxC uranium, KDDI/NTT results, Blackstone, Partners Group, Industrivärden, Puig, Inter Parfums, IPRV, MSE, Cadiz, and most small caps.

1. Top of the stack

Risk-on rebound: S&P 500 +2.35% on Monday, Kospi +4.39% today, with US October CPI at 8:30 ET today. The S&P closed at 7,549.94 (best day since Apr 8), the Dow at 52,389.75 (+2.15%) and the Nasdaq Composite at 25,253.14 (+2.74%), led by semiconductors on falling oil and Iran-deal hopes (WTOP, Motley Fool). Kospi followed, +4.39% to 5,239.13 with SK hynix +6.69% and Samsung Electronics +4.74%; foreigners turned net buyers for the first time in eight sessions, and a buy sidecar triggered (Korea Times, Seoul Economic Daily). The 10-year was about 4.88% and Fed December-hike odds are roughly 77–84% depending on source (Yahoo Finance). Consensus for October CPI is +0.3% headline, +0.2% core (Kiplinger); a hot print would hit the long-duration equity book (PLTR, MAGS, Korean chips). A $42B 10-year auction is also today and a $25B 30-year Thursday.

Oil is falling hard, and the earlier "WTI $89.10 / $96" figures were wrong. Verified settles: WTI $90.83 / Brent $98.32 on Nov 6 (EnergyNow); Nov 9 Brent $92.57 (−5.9%, lowest since Aug 31) and WTI about $86.85 (feeds differ slightly) as Iran peace hopes build (Rigzone). No deal is signed. For the energy names (ENI, REP, TTE) this is a headwind; for copper, airlines and the rates picture it is supportive.

ALTI reported Q3 after the close Monday: miss, AUM flat. Revenue about $58M (+1% y/y) versus roughly $65.8M consensus; adjusted EPS −$0.14 versus +$0.02 expected; net loss from continuing operations $11M (vs $87M); AUM $51.6B (flat q/q), net wealth outflows about $250M, and management flagged a further non-cash Q4 loss from an external-manager redemption (earnings deck, GuruFocus). Cost cuts (opex −25%) are carrying the story; revenue is not growing. Share reaction not found.

CEC GY: last regulatory approval cleared for JD.com. The EU Commission cleared the takeover under the Foreign Subsidies Regulation on Nov 3 with conditions (intra-group dealings at market terms, third-party access to JD logistics and tech); Ceconomy called it the last outstanding approval (EC, finanzen.net). JD.com and Convergenta hold about 85.2%; stock was about €4.52 against the €4.60 offer on Nov 3. Expect a settlement announcement, then delisting/squeeze-out questions for minorities.

BHF: outside-date amendment still the live item (Dec 6). The Q3 10-Q says Delaware, New York and Massachusetts approvals will not arrive before Dec 6 and the parties are negotiating an extension; no signed amendment found (10-Q). Delaware opened a formal review Aug 17 (Delaware DOI); a paywalled Capitol Forum report says Aquarian seeks to reset $2.7B of accumulated losses (unverified). Either party can terminate after Dec 6.

Group 5 — US large-cap core

- CAT — MATTERS (bounce). +6–7% Monday to about $591 after its worst week in 18 months post-Q3; Morgan Stanley cut its target to $675 from $915 (MarketBeat). A claimed Anthropic generator order is single-source and unverified.
- LLY — MATTERS (positive). +3–4% Monday to about $1,394; Jefferies target to $1,700; Foundayo Phase 3 sleep-apnea data met the primary endpoint, filing by end-2026; FDA to require an eye-condition (NAION) warning on GLP-1s (Benzinga, CNBC). Ex-dividend $1.73 on Nov 13.
- PLTR — beta bounce. Closed $169.20 (+5.5%) Monday, no company news; about 20.5% below its 52-week high (MarketBeat). (The Nov 9 brief's $160.95 Friday figure is plausible; consistent.)
- IBKR — QUIET/de-rated. About −18% over the month; October DARTs −4% y/y; prices across sources inconsistent (TradingKey). Ex-dividend $0.15 Dec 1.
- MAGS — beta. About +2.6% Monday; close quoted $69.09 or $67.53 (sources conflict). Nvidia weakness is a drag.
- TPR — positive but reaction unclear. FQ1 EPS $1.82 vs about $1.56, FY outlook raised; stock reaction conflicts across sources (+8% earlier brief vs −10% pre-market) (GuruFocus).

- COST — QUIET. October sales $24.50B (+12.6%), comps +11.1% (+7.3% ex gas/FX) (Costco IR). Next: Q1 FY27 about Dec 10 (unconfirmed).

3. Probably noise

- Nvidia "board investigation" / "spy" headlines. Surfaced only in a StockTitan blurb and a Korean headline I could not read; do not trade on it until it is in an 8-K or Reuters.
- Oil figures of "$89.10" and "$96" for Nov 6. Not supported by any settlement source (Nov 6 WTI settled $90.83). Fortune's Brent snapshots (about $97–102) are intraday.
- Fed hike odds ranging 73–90%. Source spread, not a signal; CPI today resets it.
- Intraday Kospi buy-sidecar peak of 4.6%. Only the 4.39% close matters.
- Kospi at 8,000+ in older search results. Appears to be bad or mislabelled data against today's 5,239; ignore.
- Cat/Anthropic generator-order claim (single MarketBeat line).

Undated but live: BHF amendment/termination 8-K and state approvals; CEC settlement/squeeze-out; ZIM resubmission and Israeli ruling; NAK Pebble ruling; DDL SAMR decision; Dior/Agache AMF waiver and EGM notice; Coty strategic review (by Dec 31); EULIF ADR conversion; Iran deal (oil).

Decisions to consider: (1) Hedges: Sep index, Treasury and FTSE futures are expired; confirm Dec contracts are intended, noting the UB/ZB roll window opens Nov 30 and equity futures roll about Dec 11. (2) CPI today: a hot print plus about 80% hike pricing hurts duration and AI beta; check hedge sizing before 8:30 ET. (3) Korea/AI beta ahead of Nvidia Nov 17. (4) BHF: spread and time value around a possible extension or termination. (5) CEC: minority-holder plan ahead of settlement/squeeze-out. (6) EULIF: confirm conversion with the broker.

5. Follow-up questions to investigate

1. CPI: How did October CPI print versus +0.3%/+0.2%, and how did hike odds, the 10y and the Ultra Bond react?
2. Nvidia: What exactly is the board probe, is the earnings date Nov 17, and what is the HBM read-through for 000660/005930?
3. Korea: Is the foreign net-buying turn durable after eight sessions of selling, and where does the won stand (not found)?
4. Oil: Does an Iran deal materialise, and how far do TTE/ENI/REP fall with Brent near $92?
5. ALTI: What was the share reaction, and what is the outcome of the 2025 strategic-review special committee and the $85M facility?
6. BHF: Has an outside-date amendment been filed, and is the Delaware loss-reset request real?
7. CEC: When does JD.com settle, and what squeeze-out terms apply to the remaining about 15%?
8. ZIM: Was the revised Hapag-Lloyd/FIMI application resubmitted, and what is the current spread?
9. EULIF/CRML: Did CRML trade from Nov 6, at what price, and how is the ADR treated?
10. Caterpillar: Is the Anthropic generator order real, and is the post-earnings damage repaired?
11. Watchlist hygiene: What are YBYU6 and EP059897? Update AAUC and EULIF labels and roll the expired futures.
